| Continue evaluating alternatives for managing groundwater availability and quality and selection/implementation of an appropriate water management/augmentation strategy to improve groundwater availability and stabilize or improve groundwater quality (e.g., protect recharge areas, promote conservation measures). | X | X | X | X | | X | X | | | |
| Implementation of a comprehensive data collection to identify well sites, groundwater use, aquifer characteristics, and trends in groundwater quality in the Skinner, Vail, Temecula-Murrieta, and De Luz Management Areas. | X | X | X | X | | X | X | | | |
| Define common multi-jurisdictional conservation goals and Formulate a watershed-based monitoring program. | X | X | X | X | X | X | | X | | X |
| Develop and implement comprehensive and systematic exotic plant and animal control programs using a systematic inventory and action plan. | X | | X | | | | | X | X | |
| Control sediment erosion and transport from the upper watersheds to reduce siltation along the river system. | X | | | | X | X | X | | | X |
| Focus biotic stream restoration efforts around predictable physical environments where efforts to restore aquatic communities including native fish have the greatest opportunities for success. | | X | X | X | X | X | X | X | | X |
| Restore groundwater and surface water connectivity and predictability where possible. | | | | | | X | X | X | | X |
| For restoration of aquatic communities within the watershed, a top-down approach should be taken within defensible portions of the watershed. This will assist in protecting downstream areas from degradation by upstream problems such as sedimentation and exotic species. | X | X | | | | X | X | | | X |

| A systematic inventory and evaluation of barriers to movement of aquatic resources should be undertaken throughout the watershed and opportunities to restore aquatic environment connectivity should be identified. Barriers may include natural barriers, beaver dams, or human introduced barriers. | | X | X | | | X | X | X | X | |
| Restore riparian habitats along denuded sections of streams or areas presently supporting invasive exotic vegetation. Link riparian restoration to hydrologic restoration efforts. | | | | | | | X | X | X | X |
